

Third Annual Polar Bear Drive January 1st, 2010

It's time for the Third Annual Polar Bear Drive on January 1st! What a better way to start the year than with a top-down drive in the Miata! Or at least have the sunroof open in the winter car..

I'm hoping that we'll have a nice day where it's not raining or snowing so everyone can leave the hardtops at home. We'll go through the Highlands and make our way up to Bear Mountain. There's a good spot that we can stop to stretch our legs and take some pictures! We'll then wind our way through the Western Communities, then onto Ocean Blvd with a nice view of Fisgard Lighthouse, then to the Six Mile Pub at around 2:00pm for a late lunch.

There are some steep roads, but nothing too bad. Good tires are recommended, especially if it snows.

Meeting Place: 12 noon @ Thirfty Foods on Quadra & Cloverdale in Victoria

If everyone can RSVP to me at audettec@telusplanet.net, I can let the Six Mile Pub know.

Thanks, Cameron
